

Our Contributors

Debra Barr is currently completing a Guide to the Papers of Earle Birney for the Thomas Fisher Library, University of Toronto. She obtained her Master of Archives Studies from the University of British Columbia in 1985, and previously was archivist of the Anglican Diocese of British Columbia.

Gabrielle Blais is Acting Director, Reference and Researcher Services Division, Public Programs Branch, National Archives of Canada. She was previously Acting Chief of the Access Section and archivist in the Social Affairs and Natural Resources Section of the Government Archives Division, National Archives. In the latter position she was responsible for the forestry, wildlife, and national parks records of the Federal Government. In addition to being the Book Review Editor for Archivaria, Ms. Blais is the Co-Editor of the Canadian Historical Association's Booklet Series.

Doug Bocking was Associate Provincial Archivist of Saskatchewan from 1976 to 1986. Prior to that he was head of the Saskatoon Office of the Saskatchewan Archives Board. He was a long-time editor of the publication Saskatchewan History and although retired since June 1986 he has retained his duties as Archivist for the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Saskatoon.

Carman V. Carroll is Provincial Archivist of Nova Scotia, a position he assumed in January 1986. He was formerly Chief, Prime Ministers Section (1973-78) and Chief, Public Affairs Section (1978-85), Manuscript Division, National Archives of Canada. He holds an M.A. in History from the University of New Brunswick.

Terry Cook is Chief of Social Affairs and Natural Resources Records at the National Archives of Canada. He has been Editor of the Canadian Historical Association's Historical Papers (1978-82) and its Historical Booklet series (1982-), as well as General Editor of Archivaria (1982-84). He has published numerous studies in Canadian social and intellectual history and in archival theory and practice.

Barbara L. Craig is an archivist with the Government Records Section of the Archives of Ontario. She is currently completing a degree in the Doctorate Programme of the School of Library, Archives, and Information Studies, University of London, England, where her dissertation topic is "Hospital Records in London, England, and the Province of Ontario, Canada, 1800 to 1950."

H.T. Holman is Access to Information Advisor with the Department of Industry, Science and Technology in Ottawa. Previously, he held a similar position with the Department of Indian Affairs. He was an archivist in the Economic and Scientific Section, Manuscript Division, National Archives of Canada in 1985. He obtained his LL.B. from Queen's University, and worked for seven years in the Provincial Archives of Prince Edward Island.

Richard M. Kesner has been Vice President for General Services, Multibank Service Corporation since 1985. His previous positions include Manager of Office Systems and Services, The Faxon Company, Inc. (1981-85); Director, Archives of Appalachia, East Tennessee State University (1978-81); and Research Associate and Archivist, Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs, Wayne State University (1977-78). He obtained a Ph.D. in History and Information Science from Stanford University (1977), and has contributed numerous publications on the subject of information management, to the archival and records management community.

Danielle Laberge is Director, Graduate Studies, Department of Sociology, Université du Québec à Montréal. She obtained a Ph.D. in Criminology from the Université de Montréal in 1983. In 1985 she was co-editor of the book, Le contrôle social en pièces détachées. Actes du colloque de l'ASCALF. Montréal: Cahiers de l'ACFAS.

Arnold E. Roos did his undergraduate work in Chemistry and History at McMaster University and his graduate work in History and Philosophy of Science and Technology at the University of Toronto. He is co-founder and past president of the Canadian Science and Technology Historical Association and is an associate editor of the journal Scientia Canadensis. For the past twelve years he has worked for National Historical Parks and Sites on such topics as Alexander Graham Bell, Yukon river boats, telecommunications and is presently researching various aspects of hydro-electric development in Canada.

Joan M. Schwartz is Acting Chief of Acquisition and Research Photography in the Documentary Art and Photography Division of the National Archives of Canada.

Hugh A. Taylor was Provincial Archivist of Alberta, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia successively, and Director of the Archives (now Historical Resources) Branch at the National Archives of Canada. He is retired and works as a consulting archivist. He was granted the honour of an Honourary Life Membership in the Association of Canadian Archivists in June 1983. He has published numerous articles on archival theory and practice. His early training and archival experience were obtained in England.

James Turner is Systems Librarian, Stockshot Library, National Film Board, Montreal. He is also a sessional lecturer on the subject of "Diffusion, Conservation et Restauration" in the Certificat en archivistique programme, administered by Library École de bibliothéconomie et des Sciences de l'Information, at the University of Montreal. He graduated from the School of Library and Information Studies, McGill University, 1986.

Doug Whyte is an archivist in the Government Archives Division, National Archives of Canada. He is responsible for northern affairs, energy and mineral resource records produced by the federal government.