Archivaria is published semi-annually in spring and fall with grateful acknowledgement for assistance provided by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC), by Library and Archives Canada, and by York University.

- Articles appearing in Archivaria are abstracted and indexed in the Canadian Periodical Index, Historical Abstracts, Library Literature, and America: History and Life.
- The full collection of Archivaria issues is available online; the most recent eight issues are located in the Reserved Collection, available to current subscribers and ACA members, while all previous issues from #1 are open to the public in the Main Collection. Terms of Use and links to both collections are located in the Archivaria section at www.archivists.ca/publications/archivaria.aspx.

A Message to Archivaria Authors: During the creation of the Archivaria online collection, the ACA made considerable effort to reach the over 900 authors who have contributed articles, reviews, notes, and communications to Archivaria since beginning publication in 1975. Despite these efforts, it was not possible to locate and obtain permission from each individual, or their next of kin.

In the event that you do not wish to have your works included in the online collection, or if you have any questions related to the collection, we encourage you to contact the Association of Canadian Archivists' office (email: execdir@archivists.ca) at your earliest opportunity. Electronic articles for which permission is declined will be removed as quickly as possible following receipt of such direction.
